Launched in 2016 by philanthropist Jeff Greene and his wife Mei Sze Greene, The Greene School is committed to lifelong learning beyond the acquisition of knowledge. The school, which features a 6:1 student to teacher ratio, is known for its academic strengths as well as its commitment to developing well-rounded, joyful, curious and confident learners.

"My wife and I had a vision for a school right in here in West Palm Beach that would offer the same academic prestige, opportunities, culture, and personalization as the very best schools in the country," said Jeff Greene. "With the phenomenal success of the lower school over the past six years and the support of our students' parents, we know the time is right to create a high school, where we can see our students through to the colleges of their choice."

The new high school will include the following:

- In-depth, high-level courses in English Language Arts, Mathematics, Science and Social Sciences
- Advanced Placement and Honors Courses
- College Counseling with veteran counselor Joe Blassberg
- Project-based learning embedded throughout the curriculum, with core classes engaging students in long-term investigative projects addressing issues affecting the community and the world
- Internships and Service Learning
- Four-year Purpose, Connection and Meaning (PCM) Seminar consisting of Study Skills, Character Development, Junior Thesis, Senior Internship and more
- Artist-in-Residence Program
- Student Television Program
- Speaker Series
- Daily Mindfulness
- Athletics (Cross Country, Golf, Basketball, Volleyball, Tennis, and more)
- Healthy, freshly made lunch and snacks served throughout the day

"We are proud to provide an exciting new educational offering that truly meets the needs of Palm Beach County's future leaders," said Dr. Denise Spirou, Head of School, The Greene School. "The addition of the Upper School also benefits our Lower School students who excel in particular subjects by offering them individual classes above their grade level. This will enhance their college-readiness and ensure our Greene School students remain challenged and stimulated."

The Greene School is now accepting applications and is committed to enrolling the most qualified students regardless of financial status. Students are invited to apply for both merit scholarships (academics and arts) and need-based financial aid. To learn more, visit <https://greene.school/growing-with-greene/>.
